FORRESTAL TO RESIGN AS NAVY SECRETARY

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 3.—Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal said here today that he planned to resign his post sometime this year.

"The President knows that I want to get out this year. I'm no believer in the theory of indispensability of any man," he said in an interview.

It was his first direct statement on his oft-reported plans to leave the position.

President Truman reported at a December press conference that the Navy secretary had been trying to resign ever since his administration went into office, but he hoped Forrestal would not resign at an early date.

Forrestal was appointed to succeed the late Frank Knox by the late President Roosevelt in May, 1944.

DISSATISFIED OVER CONTROL OF KOREA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—(UP)—Gen Douglas MacArthur was revealed today to have expressed dissatisfaction to the war department over divided American-Soviet Russian control of Korea.

In his first report on his stewardship as supreme commander for the Allied powers, MacArthur said that the dual control was bringing "serious consequences" and that the Korean people were "greatly concerned."

This report, issued through the war department, was prepared before the three-power conference of foreign ministers at Moscow agreed on a joint Soviet-U. S. commission for Korea and the calling of a meeting of the Russian and American military commands in Korea to establish coordination on administrative and economic matters.

Soviet Russia is in control of Korea north of the 38th parallel and the United States has jurisdiction of the area to the south. MacArthur also indicated his opposition to any plan calling for the mass deportation of Japanese from Japan for reparation labor service.

Promises Probe Of Army Abuses

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—(UP)—Sen. Pat McCarran, D., Nev., today accused the army of shameful abuses in administration of martial law and promised a congressional investigation.

McCarran, chairman of the senate judiciary committee, said the inquiry should also cover the army's court-martial system. He said particularly objectionable practices occurred while military law was in force in Hawaii where, he declared, innocent persons suffered punishment "worse than just being locked up."

"If Hawaii typifies military law as administered by the army, then somebody should let the army know that it is not the government of the United States; and that the constitution of the United States still prevails," McCarran said in an interview.

Disclosing that he had been carrying on a private investigation, McCarran said that "if one-half of what I have heard is true, then there are some people wearing chevrons who should be wearing stripes."

McCarran said his information came from "many sources." He said he had not asked the army for an official report "because if I did, I knew that it would be smothered up—and I'm not going to let anything be smothered up."

McCarran said he might use as a vehicle for the inquiry a resolution introduced by Sen. Wayne Morse, R., Ore. It calls for an investigation of army and navy courts martial by a special committee composed of three members from each of the judiciary, military and naval committees.

Morse also has complained of injustices which he says were committed—and still are being committed—by courts martial. He said today that he also had received a particularly large number of complaints from Hawaii.

MORE STRIKES DEVELOPING ON LABOR FRONT

NEW CRISIS IN ELECTRIC AND MEAT PACKING INDUSTRIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (UP)—The nation's labor trouble moved toward a new crisis today as 68,000 Western Electric Co. employees threatened to leave their jobs at 11 a. m. EST.

The strike was scheduled to start when 17,400 employees strike in New York and New Jersey at 11 a. m. and union leaders expected it to spread to other Western Electric employees across the nation.

The dispute was one of a half dozen which threatened to paralyze major industries unless agreements can be reached on wage demands.

There was a possibility that the Western Electric strike might not materialize. The Labor Department asked the National Federation of Telephone Workers to postpone the walk-out to give it another chance to settle the dispute over demands for a 30 per cent wage raise. The union's reply was still awaited as the strike hour approached.

If the strike does come off, there was a possibility that it would be supported by a sympathy walkout of 250,000 telephone operators who use Western Electric equipment.

Even more critical walkouts loomed, however, in the nation's steel and meat packing industries. Government experts were continuing efforts to head off the Jan. 14 steel and Jan. 16 meat packing walkouts scheduled by CIO unions.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson warned that a meat packing strike would result in severe civilian shortages in a very short time, disrupt European relief and cut deeply into army needs. Meats stocks, he said, already are at a very low ebb while demand is heavy.

There also was a possibility of a strike by the nation's shipworkers. No progress was reported in the General Motors walkout. The glass workers walkout continued. And there was little progress toward a settlement of the oil industry dispute.

Meanwhile, the United Mine Workers were expected to enter the already disturbed labor picture with a new demand for a general wage increase within 60 to 90 days. UMW President John L. Lewis has authority to ask the coal operators to reopen their contract March 1.

The labor scene industry-by-industry: Automobile—The President's fact-finding panel has asked additional time to make its recommendations in the 44-day-old strike of 175,000 CIO United Auto Workers. The report was due today. Company-union negotiations on a demand for a 30 per cent wage increase will resume Monday.

Meat packing—Federal conciliators assigned in Chicago after walkout was set for Jan. 16 against Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Wilson & Co., and Cudahy Packing Co. Strike action hinges on union demand for 17½ cents an hour wage increase.

Stark Recalled By Probe Group

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—(UP)—Adm. Harold R. Stark faced questioning today on his statement that the late President Roosevelt was reluctant to authorize more men for the navy before the Pearl Harbor attack.

Stark, former chief of naval operations, told the Pearl Harbor investigating committee Monday that he had to "struggle" in White House conference to get authorizations for more men.

Sen. Scott W. Lucas, D., Ill., said he would ask Stark to elaborate that point in today's session.

Correspondence between Stark and Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, commander at Pearl Harbor during 1941, showed that the Pacific fleet had only 85 per cent of full complement. They wanted 115 per cent to bring the force up to full strength and to furnish a reserve for new vessels under construction.

Mr. Roosevelt reportedly feared it would result in overcrowding and unsanitary conditions aboard ships.

Stark told the committee late yesterday that Kimmel didn't have all the forces he wanted when the Japanese struck on Dec. 7, 1941. But, he added, neither did Kimmel use his available means to the best advantage to prevent a surprise attack.

Stark said that if Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter S. Short, army chief in Hawaii, had done as they should on the basis of Nov. 27 warnings from Washington, the Japanese raid would not have been so successful.

Kansas Driver Hurt In Mishap

A near serious traffic accident occurred on U. S.-40, near Pleasant Garden, southwest of here, Thursday morning when a Kansas automobile left the pavement.

Gustave Linquist of Fort Leavenworth, owner and driver of the car suffered facial lacerations and other injuries. He was taken to the Clay county hospital at Brazil by a passing Indianapolis motorist.

State policeman Stephenson, of the Putnamville post, who investigated the mishap, took Mrs. Linquist to the hospital to be with her husband. A telephone call to the Brazil hospital by The Daily Banner revealed that Mr. Linquist had been released from the emergency ward soon after being admitted and that his injuries although painful were not critical.

It was believed that possible icy condition of the pavement may have caused the accident.

Reinvoke Citrus Price Ceilings

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Restoration of price ceilings of fresh citrus fruits effective Friday, was ordered by the OPA today.

The agency said prices housewives pay for these products may be a little higher for a few days than before ceilings were suspended last Nov. 19, but that they will be brought into line quickly after that.

The OPA said this action was taken with authorization and direction of John C. Collett, stabilization administrator.

Ceiling prices were suspended last Nov. 19.

"Because of the unexpected price increases in fresh citrus fruits," said the OPA announcement, "the advisability of restoring controls has been under consideration for several weeks."

MOTHER KILLED

PLYMOUTH, Ind., Jan. 3.—(UP)—Mrs. Peter Doll, 35, mother of two children, was killed in a railroad crossing accident last night when her automobile stalled in the path of an east-bound Pennsylvania railroad troop train.

Her 8-year-old son, Jimmy, and his 11-year-old companion, Gene Gritten, leaped to safety. James Howard, a crossing watchman, told police he narrowly escaped being struck by the train as he attempted to help Mrs. Doll move the automobile off the track.

PUBLIC WILL HEAR APPEAL BY PRESIDENT

MR. TRUMAN TO PRESENT LEGISLATIVE PLANS IN BROADCAST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—(UP)—President Truman goes on the air tonight to seek strong public support in his fight to overcome congressional indifference to his legislative program.

He will deliver a 30-minute nationwide radio address from the White House at 10 P. M. (EST). It will be broadcast by all networks.

He will list for the nation the basic provisions of his program and explain the status of the many individual proposals to which Congress thus far has given little support.

The President will explain in simple words what he is trying to do and the obstacles in his way. He was not expected to criticize Congress in any sharp terms for failure to enact his program. He will rely instead on public opinion to achieve his aims.

Mr. Truman was not expected to ask for anything new, but merely to restate and stress the need for White House proposals already pending before the House and Senate.

His speech tonight marked a new development in the presidential technique of pressing legislation. Usually, at the first of each year, a president submits a state of the union message to the Congress, then follows up with an explanatory address to the public.

The President now has reversed this procedure. Congress is in a holiday recess until Jan. 14. Mr. Truman apparently feels it is more strategic to get the people behind his program while their legislative representatives are on home grounds and can sense public reaction at first hand.

The chief executive was expected to hold out to the nation the prospects for great prosperity if the various elements of the American population work together. He believes his proposals for such things as full employment and labor dispute machinery can do much to insure that cooperation.

Lock Company Faces Strike

STAMFORD, Conn., Jan. 3.—(UP)—Noon today was the zero hour for industrial paralysis in Stamford unless labor and management can agree within two hours to settle the 57-day-old strike of 3,000 employees of the Yale & Towne Manufacturing Company, the world's biggest lock shop.

If that final conference fails, 10,000 members of CIO and AFL unions and other organized labor groups will strap an industrial straightjacket on this city of 65,000. Workers in every factory, theater, bar, bakery, and transportation facility were ready to walk out at the stroke of noon in a sympathy strike to support the lock workers.

An additional 2,000 to 3,000 workers in four industrial plants in nearby cities also were scheduled to quit. The plants were the Conde Nast Press at Greenwich, Conn., The Norwalk Lock Co., at Norwalk, Conn., and Russell Birdsall & Ward Co., and the Homelite Corp., both of Port Chester, N. Y.

The meeting of labor and management officials which could bring a reprieve from the general shutdown will begin at 10 a. m. at the Stamford town hall, facing Atlantic Square, where the 10,000 demonstrators were scheduled to end a street parade. An amplifying system was set up in the square for labor speakers.

Whether the mass walkout would extend beyond today depended on results of the Stamford demonstration.

The Stamford labor group, which is engineering the general sympathy movement, permitted operation of power plants to assure the city heat, light, and electric current. It said they would be permitted to operate in the interest of public health.

JOYCE HANGED AS TRAITOR IN BRITISH PRISON

LOIRD HAW HAW OF NAZI RADIO FAME PAYS WITH LIFE

LONDON, Jan. 3.—(UP)—William Joyce, a Brooklyn Irish lad who became the scar-faced and snarling Lord Haw Haw of the Nazi radio, was hanged for high treason on the gallows of Wandsworth prison today.

At least four of his Fascist sympathizers stood in the shivering crowd of 300 outside the stone walls of the southwest London prison. Reinforced police guards and a group of British soldiers on leave were at the prison gate, ready for trouble, but there was no demonstration when the execution notice was posted at 9:08 a. m.

One of the little traitor's supporters bared his head and stood at attention as the crowd jammed against the big green gate to read the words, "The judgment of death was this day executed on William Joyce."

Three other young men stepped behind a clump of trees and removed their hats when the 9 a. m. execution hour passed.

A small woman standing near them, a shawl protecting her head from the frost, said, "Good riddance."

Joyce was executed under a 600-year-old law for adhering to the enemies of King George VI. Born an American, he came under British jurisdiction because he held a British passport when the war began. He broadcast from Germany while still a subject of the British crown.

The traitor's wife said farewell to him shortly after dawn, then was returned to her own cell at Holloway prison. She was captured with him at Flensburg last May 28. His brother, Quintin, and a sister also paid him a goodbye call. Quintin later attended a memorial service for him, it was understood.

The most hated of Britain's traitors was hanged on the same gallows on which John Amery was put to death on Dec. 19 for a similar offense.

The 39-year-old Joyce was still defiant when the House of Lords rejected his appeal on Dec. 18, and told a friend that he had no regrets for his actions.

The London Daily Mail said today that Joyce had expressed regret for his deeds in a farewell letter written to his father-in-law, H. White of Manchester.

JAP COMMANDER OF DEATH MARCH GOES ON TRIAL

GEN. HOMMA IS CHARGED WITH ATROCITIES AT BATAAN

MANILA, Jan. 3.—(UP)—Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma maintained his headquarters only 500 yards from the road along which American and Filipino soldiers were forced on the Bataan death march, the first witness testified today at his war crimes trial.

Homma, who commanded Japanese forces in the Philippines in 1941-42, had pleaded innocent to charges that he was responsible for the death march and scores of other atrocities in the Philippines.

Apparently to show that it would have been impossible for Homma not to have been aware of the infamous march, the prosecution called Maj. Gen. Tushimoto Takatsu, who had been one of Homma's staff officers, to describe the location of headquarters.

Takatsu began testifying at the afternoon session after the U. S. military commission trying Homma had denied a defense motion for dismissal of the case on the grounds that the court lacked jurisdiction.

The commission also denied a subsequent defense request for a 10-day postponement to permit additional preparations for the trial.

The prosecution introduced copies of The Hague pact on laws of war, the Geneva Red Cross convention and the Geneva pact of 1929 regarding treatment of prisoners of war. All were signed by Japan and the prosecution indicated it would charge Homma violated all.

The squat, stern-faced defendant, who speaks perfect English, listened intently to the proceedings. He was dressed nattily in a white business suit with a brown tie.

Homma was charged specifically in the indictment with responsibility for 80,735 slayings and tortures—20,000 more than Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita who recently was convicted and sentenced to death by hanging.

Deaths included those in the wanton bombing of Manila after Gen. Douglas MacArthur had declared it an open city.

Homma further was charged with refusing quarter to American troops. It was alleged that after Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright offered to surrender May 26, 1942, the Japanese fired on Corregidor and three other islands "thus killing and wounding U. S. troops."

Defense counsel Capt. George Furness, in presenting the motion for dismissal, argued that allied leaders had delegated no authority to Gen. MacArthur to set up military courts. He also charged that the rules and the procedure denied the defendant a fair trial.

Yamashita's counsel similarly had challenged the authority of the military commission and his appeal now is pending before the United States Supreme Court.

ANTELOPE TO ROAM AGAIN AT LAS VEGAS
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Antelope soon may be romping again on the slopes of the Sheep Mountains near Las Vegas.

Five baby does and one buck antelope have been brought here from the national wild life refuge at Hart Mountain, Ore., to re-establish the animals on the government's sprawling desert game range.

The Las Vegas region once boasted antelope—but they disappeared via hunters' guns or natural causes. Range officials say an earlier attempt to re-establish the antelope failed—so they're milk-feeding their delicate charges this time.

CAUTIONS ABOUT BROODING

Battery brooding of chicks, especially up to broiler age, has had a popular appeal ever since battery brooders were first offered to the public in 1925. Batteries appeared to put broiler production on a "factory" basis claiming economy of space and labor and superior finished broilers.

Today no small number of returning, poultry-minded veterans are envisaging a humming, money making business built around a battery broiler plant, says J. W. Sicer, Purdue University extension poultryman.

And yet, in Indiana, by far the largest majority of commercial broiler producers brood on the floor. They have found it more profitable. There are very few commercial battery broiler plants in Indiana that have operated successfully over a period of years, states Mr. Sicer.

Conditions in batteries are quite artificial. Troubles with breast blisters, slipped tendons, and poor feathering are increased in batteries, states the Purdue man. The finished broilers are soft meat and quite desirable for sale at home as dressed chickens, but shrink unduly in weight when trucked to a distant market.

While there is a saving in floor space required during the first few weeks with batteries, there is little or no saving later if enough room is allowed for conveniently working around the batteries.

The investment in buildings and equipment per chick will be higher with battery brooding than floor brooded chicks. Experience has taught that it takes as much or even more work to feed and care for battery broilers than to raise the same number on the floor, according to the poultryman.

Battery brooding undoubtedly has a place, as mentioned here with but caution is urged before establishment of a large capacity plant.

WARM SPRINGS EXPECTS INFUX OF PILGRIMS

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. (UP)—The Little White House here, where the late President Roosevelt died, may become a national shrine—taking its place with Mount Vernon and Thomas Jefferson's Monticello.

Mayor Frank W. Allcorn of Warm Springs, who has given no official information about such plans, said recently that the town and its famed infantile paralysis foundation has plans for changing the physical aspect of the entire city area. This, he said, will be in keeping with the fact that even now the Little White House has become a visiting place for pilgrims.

It has been reported that when President Truman makes his scheduled trip through the South in November he will accept the so-called second home of the former President as government property.

Thus far plans concerning such action have included an architectural study of the house, its grounds and the surrounding land. Expensive landscaping for Warm Springs has been authorized.

Mayor Allcorn said that in 1940 a total of 240,000 people registered as visitors at the Little White House. Now, he added, it is expected that many more than that will come here each year.

"The Little White House," said Allcorn, "will forever be enshrined in man's memory. The death of President Roosevelt immortalized Warm Springs and we here are appreciative of the fact that once travel begins to open up, thousands of people from all over the world will come here to pay their respect to the memory of President Roosevelt."

PROPERTY TAX UP

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UP)—A million dollar increase in property taxes was recorded in Wyoming this year. Large gains in county and school taxes brought about the increase. The state mill levy for property tax purposes was maintained at two mills this year, same as in 1944.

SPORTING NEWS

(By Jim Zeis)

BOWLING -- BASKETBALL -- FOOTBALL

Red Devils, 29 Tiger Cubs, 22

After winning from Manual last week, the Tiger Cubs evidently couldn't stand prosperity as they "blew" their game with the Brazil high school basketball team here Wednesday night.

The Greencastle boys started strong and looked like sure winners throughout the first quarter. Their passing was good and their under-the-hoop handling of the ball was just about all you wanted. They missed several shots but managed to get 8 points to 5 by Brazil at the end of the period.

The Red Devils began to move after the almost dazzling speed of the Cubs faded in the second frame. Greencastle collected 6 more points and Brazil registered 8 and the half ended 14 to 13 in favor of the Tiger Cubs.

The visitors got away with a 5-point spurt as the third quarter got underway to lead for the first time in the contest. The game was fast in spots and the Cubs were apparently having trouble getting the basket range, and it was 24 to 22 in favor of Brazil.

Something happened to the Cub offense in the last quarter as the local netters failed to register a single point. Brazil managed to add 5 more to their total and the tilt ended with the Red Devils, the winner, 29 to 22.

Beloit Plays Tigers Friday

Coach Donovan C. Moffett is putting the DePauw basketball men through some rigorous practice following the Christmas vacation and in preparation for their next game on Friday, Jan. 4, when they will be host to Beloit College in a return game.

DePauw, under a jinx since they lost to Beloit on the Wisconsin school's home grounds on Dec. 8, will be out to revenge the earlier 61-41 defeat. The Tigers have played only one conference game since that time, when they lost by two baskets to Butler in a 48-44 decision on Dec. 17. Earlier DePauw defeated Central Normal, 32-27, and Franklin College, 39-37.

With Charles West, fast forward on the Tiger squad, back after a siege of influenza, the Tigers have better prospects than they have had for several games. West was unable to play against Butler and also against the University of Chicago, which won a one-point decision to defeat DePauw 55-54, the Tigers' last game of 1945 on Dec. 20.

After the Beloit game the Tigers will begin conference competition again. They meet their traditional rivals, the Little Giants of Wabash College, there on Jan. 8. Following this game they continue their road tour to meet Franklin on Jan. 12, Ball State on Jan. 17, and Earlham on Jan. 21.

ROCKIN' CHAIR HUNTER

GETS 'BIGGEST BUCK DEER

MOREHEAD CITY, N. C.

(UP)—An "Ole Rocking Chair"

had him, but he had a gun instead of a cane by his side. And as a result, Lon Bolich of Winston-Salem, N. C. bagged the largest buck deer killed to date in North Carolina.

Bolich, vice president of the Atlantic and East Carolina

Railroad Co., temporarily unable to walk, went deer hunting with a party in Carteret county. He was placed in a rocking chair on the banks of Newport

River.

While other members of the party went off in search of their quarry, Bolich sat peacefully in his chair. With his gun draped across his lap, Bolich dozing in the sun when he

one of his fellow hunters cry-

"Lon, he's heading for the Git him!"

The deer came creathrough the woods and took careful aim. When the ters arrived on the scene, was rocking placidly in chair, the buck lying across his feet.
